Annual Meetings of the OPS are a vibrant platform that brings together physiologists and cell biologists (principal investigators, postdoctoral scholars, and students) from across Ohio (Case Western, Ohio University, The Ohio State University, University of Cincinnati, University of Toledo, Wright State University, NEOMED, and many others). It is our pleasure to host this year's 36th Annual OPS meeting at our beautiful Ohio State University campus. This annual meeting will be an excellent opportunity for undergraduate and graduate students, post-doctoral trainees and early-stage investigators to showcase their work in front of their peers for scientifically stimulating exchange of ideas and to foster collaborations across OHIO.

Registration details and Abstract Submission guidelines will be shared in subsequent emails.
